Mock elected chairman in Pahokee

By JEFF BROWN

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee City Council reorganized itself after the results of a run-off election were announced Tuesday night, May 11.

Ronnie Graydon defeated his opponent, Ramon Horta, Jr., in a run-off to decide the only disputed city government seat after last week's election.

Graydon garnered 380 votes and Horta 292, giving Graydon his first term on the council. He joins Ada Bush as the only newcomers in the government.

After the six newly elected and re-elected officials were sworn in, Jon Mock was elected council chairman.

Councilman William E. McKinstry's motion nominating Mock was seconded and passed unanimously.

Councilman George Tillis' nomination of McKinstry to the vice chairman's position was passed by a 4-1 vote with McKinstry voting against it.

Departments were also assigned to the council members.

McKinstry was retained as Police Commissioner, Mock was appointed Public Works Commissioner, Tillis Utility Commissioner, Graydon Administration and Fire Commissioner and Bush Parks Commissioner.

Mayor Duncan Padgett, City Marshal Carmen Salvatore III, City Clerk Betty J. McCoy, Mock, Bush and Graydon were all sworn in for two year terms Tuesday.

Bush replaces former-Chairman George Rashley and Graydon replaces Hugo Raineri on the council.

"I've enjoyed working with you gentlemen for the past few years," said Rashley as he took leave of the council. Rashley had not run for re-election.

"At this time, I'm overjoyed," said Raineri who had also declined to run for re-election.

Approval granted for $4 million bond sale

BELLE GLADE - The Belle Glade City Commission, Monday, May 10, approved the sale of over $4 million worth of utilities bonds to finance the improvements on the water and sewage plants.

In four separate resolutions, the commissioners approved the sale of the bonds through the Leedy Corporation, the managing underwriters in the sale.

The bonds will be sold in two series. One series, amounting to $775,000, will mature in 2002 at an interest rate of 12 percent.

The second series of over $3 million will mature in 2010 at 12.125 percent interest.

Bill Frey of Leedy told the commissioners that the sale of the bonds, which was pushed up by one and a half weeks, came at a very opportune time.

The bonds were sold on May 4 at 12 1/8 percent. Five days prior, the

Expanded service planned by Community Health Center

By ALMA HENRY

Despite the fact that the conservative tide which swept the United States during the last presidential election has forced cutbacks in many federal services, some agencies have found ways to cope.

Florida Community Health Centers, Inc. (FCHC) is fortunate in that its 1982 budget remains intact and the people who most need its services are still being helped.

In fact, FCHC - a non-profit, consumer directed health corporation serving medically needy rural and farmworking populations of Western Palm Beach and Hendry Counties - has plans to expand its services.

In addition to continuing the operation of the Clewiston Community Health Center there are also plans to open an alternative birthing center in Belle Glade.

Fred Diaz, executive director of FCHC, said the expansion is the result of a $600,000 grant the organization received from the Department of Health and Human Services.

"After two years of planning, FCHC is anticipating the opening of the alternative birthing center sometime during the months of June or July," said Diaz.

The center, which is to be located in the Memorial Wing of Glades General Hospital in Belle Glade, will service residents of Palm Beach, Hendry, Glades and Martin Counties.

According to Diaz, the center will consist of a physician-nurse-midwife team who will provide around-the-clock childbirth care previously unavailable to more than a thousand child bearing families.

Diaz said the contract has all but been approved and only minor word changes must be added to complete the contract.

The program director has been selected and other key personnel are currently being recruited (Continued on Page 9)

Weil started in the restaurant business in 1976. He said that "in taking over this municipally owned restaurant and lounge, all of our endeavors will be directed to building the facility and catering to the needs of the residents of Belle Glade and the surrounding areas."

"We intend to utilize local residents in staffing our organization and operation," he said.

City checks into legality of Pahokee remodeling

PAHOKEE — The Pahokee City Council has authorized its attorney to investigate the legality of changes and work being undertaken at the Lion's Club.

Several residents asked the council Tuesday, May 11, to check into what is being done at the club, which sits in an R1 residential neighborhood.

The club was recently leased to Hatton Properties, which has announced plans to remodel it and open it as a private club with tennis courts, swimming pool and gymnasium.

The residents at the meeting questioned whether that type of club could be legally be placed in an area zoned as R1 and whether the owners needed building permits to do the work.

Building Inspector Phelix Slonaker said no building permits were issued because Hatton Properties did not have an estimated cost to the project to put on the permit.

A building permit will be issued later, he said.

This brought more questions from the group of citizens and the council who said they were under the impression that a building permit had to be issued before the work was started.

"I never heard of someone coming to get a permit after they did the work," said Councilman William E. McKinstry.

City Attorney Michael Stauder was authorized to check the legality of the club renovations and whether it can legally be placed in the R1 area without a variance.

Mayor Duncan Padgett was authorized to write a letter to Hatton Properties informing them that those questions are being looked into.

J. Ray Hatton and representatives from Hatton Properties are to be invited to the May 18 city council meeting to explain what is happening at the Lions Club.

Pahokee run-off election

AND THE WINNER IS . . . The two candidates in Tuesday's run-off election looked on in tense anticipation as the votes were counted. It couldn't have helped much. No results show until after the last

IN WITH NEW -- Hugo Raineri, above, was "overjoyed" to become a former councilman Tuesday night. Jon Mock, left, was elected as council chairman.

City checks into legality of Pahokee remodeling

PAHOKEE - The Pahokee City Council has authorized its attorney to investigate the legality of changes and work being undertaken at the Lion's Club.

Several residents asked the council Tuesday, May 11, to check into what is being done at the club, which sits in an R1 residential neighborhood.

The club was recently leased to Hutton Properties, which has announced plans to remodel it and open it as a private club with tennis courts, swimming pool and gymnasium.

The residents at the meeting questioned whether that type of club could be legally be placed in an area zoned as R1 and whether the owners needed building permits to do the work.

Building Inspector Phelix Slonaker said no building permits were issued because Hutton Properties did not have an estimated cost to the project to put on the permit.

A building permit will be issued later, he said.

This brought more questions from the group of citizens and the council who said they were under the impression that a building permit had to be issued before the work was started.

"I never heard of someone coming to get a permit after they did the work," said Councilman William E. McKinstry.

City Attorney Michael Stauder was authorized to check the legality of the club renovations and whether it can legally be placed in the R1 area without a variance.

Mayor Duncan Padgett was authorized to write a letter to Hutton Properties informing them that those questions are being looked into.

J. Ray Hutton and representatives from Hutton Properties are to be invited to the May 18 city council meeting to explain what is happening at the Lions Club.

New entomologist joins AREC staff

On May 7, Dr. Ronald Cherry joined the Agricultural Research and Education Center/IFAS, Belle Glade and will be working as an entomologist in sugarcane.

He and his wife, Susan, will be living in the Loxahatchee area of Palm Beach County. Dr. Cherry was born and raised in the Midwest. He received a Bachelor's degree in wildlife management from Purdue University, Indiana.

Afterwards he conducted bird studies in Texas and mammal studies in Alaska.

Thereafter, he obtained his Ph.D. in Entomology at the University of Illinois by studying biological control of alfalfa pest insects. From alfalfa, he next went to work on the citrus blackfly control program located at the AREC/IFAS, at Fort Lauderdale. During this period from 1976 to 1979 he worked primarily as a field biologist on pest and beneficial insect populations. This work terminated with the successful control of the citrus blackfly. From 1979 to 1981, Dr. Cherry reverted to his wildlife training and worked as a wildlife biologist.

His responsibility was concerned with alligator control in south Florida for the Florida Game and Freshwater Fish Commission. During the last year, he resumed his work on insects and will now be focusing on sugarcane insect pest management in the Everglades.

"We feel our obligation is to the people of Belle Glade, South Bay and Lake Harbor areas," a member of the staff told The Belle Glade Herald.

"Belle Glade is the obvious population center and we should concentrate on providing improved medical facilities to meet the needs of the growing populace."

Competing in the state contest at Tampa, the Belle Glade High School Band won a superior rating for their marching ability.

The contest was held at Chamberlain High School stadium in Tampa. Earlier that day, the band was awarded an excellent rating in the sight reading contest.

George A. Riddle was elected president of the Belle Glade Junior Chamber of Commerce at the weekly meeting held at the Country Club.

Other officers elected were H.A. Woodham, Richard Mole, Bill Burke, Bill Aspey, George Founier and Jesse James.

A runoff was created in the city mayoral election between incumbent Lewis Friend and challenger Carmen Salvatore Sr., who polled 372 votes to Friend's 364.

The two candidates beat out a third opponent, C.M. Todd, who polled 98 votes in the skin-tight race.

The city election saw two councilmen and the police chief returned to office while voters chose a new city clerk.

The new city clerk was Dorothy Graham, a former employee in the clerk's office, who defeated former clerk W.P. Walker.

Returned to office were Councilmen James Harry Wilkinson Jr. who defeated A.J. Gamot, and R.B. Simonson, who was unopposed.

Police Chief Leon Guthrie was re-elected to a second term, winning over former chief Haywood Baxter.

The Pahokee High School band was rated excellent in sight reading and concert at the Florida High School Band Contest held in Tampa.

The band, competing in the Class CC division, rated superior in marching.

A message was sent to Joe Stalin in a front page picture of The Herald which showed a perfect turnout.

The precinct wasn't named but 18 of 18 voters registered had completed casting their ballots by 7:30, and that was in the a.m.

The seriousness of fire on the mucklands during the dry season was demonstrated when the exhaust of a small Ford set fire to the sawgrass, resulting in the destruction of the Ford, a Weasel and serious damage to dikes in the Shawano Drainage District.

The fire started Saturday and apparently died down that afternoon. It was left to simmer Sunday and that afternoon the wind shifted.

More than 2,000 acres of land had gone up in smoke by the time the fire was brought under control.

Florida Commissioner of Agriculture Nathan Mayo cited farmers in the Lake Okechobee region for their "unselfish devotion" in pledging cooperation in the program to produce synthetic rubber for war purposes, "whether we make money or not."

"The involved chemical processes of converting the juice of sugar cane, the starch of sweet potatoes and the oil of peanuts into essentials for war necessities such as rubber, resins and explosives," Mayo said, "are difficult for most of us dirt farmers to understand."

"But the growers of the lake region," he said, "have accepted at face value the word of the experts of the U.S. Sugar Corp. that these products can be obtained and they have communicated to the department of agriculture their determination to 'do our share in the successful prosecution of the national war effort.'"

In other area war-related news, it was announced that cars not in use for 60 days would be scrapped and sold for junk.

Government officials told "graveyard owners" and scrap iron dealers notice they were going to get the iron "one way or the other."

Meanwhile, although no hard figures were available, registration for gasoline rationing was said to be on schedule and most people had registered.

In still another area, the local draft board passed the resolution asking that police powers be granted local officials to stop what amounted to slowdowns and sit-down strikes of field workers.

The board members said they felt it just as necessary to induct farm laborers as servicemen.

The U.S. government 12-inch suction dredge Congaree, with five tugboats, 20 75-foot steel barges and 50 pontoons, came out of the St. Lucie Canal at Port Mayaca Tuesday to cross Lake Okechobee for work near Clewiston.

The dredge was brought to the area to make an auxiliary flyway from near Clewiston to Liberty Point and Observation Island.

The flyway was designed to discharge 2,500 cubic feet of water per second from the lake through the spillway at Moore Haven into the Caloosahatchee Canal and maintain a depth of water sufficient for navigation to Fort Myers.

The canal was to become a section of the Cross-Florida Waterway.

The contract was let for a surface treatment of the Belle Glade-Pahokee Road during lettings in Tallahassee.

The bid, in the amount of $23,953, was awarded to Coastal Roads Company of Miami and was to pave 10 miles of road.

Boomers

Right after World War Two the slow flowing creek in this country that we call population growth turned into a surging river of protoplasm, otherwise known as the post war baby boom.

The baby boom caused all kinds of problems, such as rock 'n' roll, television, and Tip O'Neill. Well, no generation is perfect, and those of us who made our appearance during the "Boom" had little to say about it.

We were just sort of swept along by Howdy Doodie and Captain Midnight, Kellogg's corn flakes, and diapers being washed for little brothers and sisters.

We were happy with our tricycles and pedal cars, dolls, and doll houses.

Only the true prophets among us could look ahead and begrudge our bad luck at having come along too soon to enjoy Asteroids and Pac Man. High technology then was a Mickey Mouse bunch.

It can be said that if there were no baby boom, the computer might have gone the way of the cotton gin. After all, when there were fewer people, the old ways of counting were adequate.

Those of us who were aware of such things know from the start that our generation was an aberration.

We were the longest bar on the graph which showed population growth. Weekly Reader told us so.

Those baby boomers of the late 1940s and early 1950s are fast approaching their early to middle 30s and now have little boomlets of their own.

Thus far, no one has come along (until now) to apply a tag to the boomlets and I'm sure in future years they will be forever grateful for this.

Time marches on and concern is already being expressed about what happens when the boomers get old.

Well essentially, we know that we get older and then there is the other alternative.

There are, some who are concerned about the great strain on social services and a growing tax burden.

They say Social Security will be broke. And have you noticed how that once taboo subject, euthanasia, has become fashionable?

One thing is certain and that is when the baby boomers reach senior citizen status, mommy and daddy won't be around to help solve the problems.

It'll be squarely up to the baby boomers to straighten out whatever mess we happen to be in at that time.

It's a long way from Howdy Doodie to the White House, but we're getting closer.

Everglades Memorial—

Padgett, in his news release said "with the City of Pahokee having just celebrated its 60th anniversary, I find great pleasure in any association with the Everglades Memorial Hospital and its fine staff of professionals and volunteers."

He noted that the hospital has been around for a long time, nearly as long as the city itself.

Padgett said the hospital is one of the very proud of and the fine job of rendering health care has always stood to be the finest available.

"I have always said that a bigger hospital does not mean better medicine, only more medicine, and from the sign of the times we know that more does not necessarily mean better," said the mayor.

Frank Steinberger, Hospital Administrator said "The hospital is a place that most people think of as little as possible, because to many it represents pain and suffering.

"We think that the role of the hospital really reflects one of a more pleasant feeling, one of healing, regaining strength, and getting well. This years theme is one that gives the real attitude of a hospital and its staff."

Steinberger said Everglades Memorial Hospital is working to reduce the need for hospitalization through progress in both prevention and cure of illness and injury.

A few of the activities planned for community participation will be free blood typing all this week for anyone desiring to know their blood group and Rh type. He said the only restriction is that minors will have to have a physicians order.

Today there will be free blood pressure checks performed in the hospital lobby. There will also be a contest involving some local youth organizations.

A special hospital picnic is planned for Saturday and the outstanding employee will be honored at the picnic.

PAHOKEE Mayor Duncan Padgett signs a proclamation declaring May 10-15 National Hospital Week in Pahokee. Hospital Administrator Frank Steinberger and Robbie Hooks, Chairman of National Hospital Week look on.

DEBBIE QUEEN, director of nursing and Chris Hamilton, assistant director of nursing are shown with the new equipment that can utilize VHS cassette tapes and broadcast special films into the patients rooms via closed circuit television.

Everglades Memorial under renovation, receiving new equipment

By Brenda Bunting
PAHOKEE — Over 1,000 square feet of business office space is being added to Everglades Memorial Hospital in renovations that Frank Steinberger, Hospital Administrator, says have been needed for the past 10 years.

Renovations have been ongoing at the hospital for the past three months and Steinberger estimates it will take approximately two months longer before the work will be finished.

"The funds for these renovations come from our Funded Depression money," said Steinberger. "Let me make it clear that we are not asking for any additional funds, no millage increase and we received no loans."

In addition to the new renovations, Steinberger said the hospital has purchased over $200,000 worth of new equipment in the past year.

Among some of the new equipment purchased has been a new mobile x-ray machine. The $32,000 General Electric AAX-3 is self propelled and is capable of producing a better service while providing less radiation to the patient, according to Steinberger.

Other new equipment includes new video equipment that utilizes VHS Cassette Tapes and broadcasts special films into patients rooms via closed circuit television.

Debbie Queen, director of nursing at EMH said this equipment benefits patients, by giving them instruction in caring for their specific type of illness or condition after they return home.

"This type of patient education is one of the ways the Everglades Memorial Hospital is helping to prevent illness by making the patient aware of many special procedures they can do themselves at home to prevent them from becoming seriously ill and requiring re-admission to the hospital," Queen said.

Christine Hamilton, assistant director of nursing, said the Video Equipment helps to make new employees familiar with hospital procedure so a uniform type of service can be rendered to each patient. "Many times the employees are too busy to allow for an entire class to attend on-going 'In-Service' training, but with this type of system, just a few or even one employee can sign up and view a tape," she said.

"The hospital also has a new Neo-Natal machine. Dale Milita, laboratory supervisor at the hospital, said the hospital is proud to have the new monitoring machine. "This new machine is something that is unusual for a small hospital to have," he said.

With the new machine the staff at the Pahokee facility can sustain life of the infant much better with this new self contained equipment, according to Milita. The heart rate monitor keeps in constant touch between the staff and the infants heart rate, alarming for help when assistance is needed. The respirations are under constant alert, with the monitors built in this type of isotope. The new equipment allows for complete monitoring of two infants simultaneously.

The hospital new Neo-natal Isolette is in almost constant use, said Milita, due to the large numbers of patients from surrounding communities coming to Pahokee to deliver.

Other renovations to the hospital included new carpeting, paint and equipment for the Medical Records Department.

THIS simulated demonstration of a patient with possible cardiac shows Everglades Memorial Hospital Emergency Medical Technicians Sheila Bennett and Jason Winer administering to Gail Jordan (on stretcher). Gail is also an EMT.

Ivy Leaf pageant slated

BELLE GLADE—The Mu Rho Omega Chapter of Alpha Kappa Alpha Sorority, Inc. Third Annual Miss Ivy Pageant will be held Saturday, May 22, at the Lake Shore Civic Center.

Eight young ladies, presenting the communities of Belle Glade, South Bay and Pahokee are vying for the title. Mrs. Caroline Brown is serving as the pageant coordinator.

Admission to the pageant is $1 per person.

LARRY WEST, assistant chief x-ray technician, poses as a patient for Rayan Culbert, chief technician to demonstrate the new mobile x-ray machine at the hospital.

Teaching children how to make emergency calls

The little girl's voice was shaking as she spoke into the telephone receiver. "My mother is just lying on the floor. She looks sick."

The four-year old child then told the policeman her last name and what street she lived on. Help was on the way in minutes, thanks to this child's knowledge of how to handle an emergency.

Suppose you were lying on the floor, sick or hurt. Would your child know how to call for help? According to Southern Bell Local Manager, Bob White, teaching a child, as early as possible, how to use the phone in an emergency is vital.

White recommends that young children from two to four years old be taught to tell an operator their name and the area where they live. Children from four to six should know their name, approximate address and that there is a need for help. By the time they are six, children should know their parents' full names, complete address and the nature of the emergency.

"Because a child will be acting under pressure, it's important to practice emergency calling," says White.

"First, show children how to pick up the handset themselves and then how to dial 9-1-1. Next, have them repeat what they should say slowly and clearly into the mouthpiece." One suggestion White has is to call a friend and let your child practice making an emergency call.

"It's also important for children to know how to use a coin telephone," says White. "Emergency numbers can be called without inserting a coin at almost all coin telephones now."

By JEFF BROWN
BELLE GLADE - It was a lifestyle and occupation romanticized and embellished by American cinema and less-than-true-to-life dime-novels. Cowboys, mounted on their horses, watched over their herds, which were spread over expanses of land covered with sawgrass. The American cowboy and his lifestyle was supposed to be all but extinct with the passing of the wild west. But that, too, is not entirely accurate. Cattle still roam the plains of many states, including Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and . . . Florida. Yes, the cowboy still lives in Florida. They ride their horses over the plains after their cattle and bring them in for round-up twice a year on ranches that stretch further than a man can see.

That isn't unusual. Not to those who are familiar with the area and its background. BELLE GLADE - It was a lifestyle and occupation romanticized and embellished by American cinema and less-than-true-to-life dime-novels. Cowboys, mounted on their horses, watched over their herds, which were spread over expanses of land covered with sawgrass. The American cowboy and his lifestyle was supposed to be all but extinct with the passing of the wild west. But that, too, is not entirely accurate. Cattle still roam the plains of many states, including Wyoming, Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas, Kansas and ... Florida. Yes, the cowboy still lives in Florida. They ride their horses over the plains after their cattle and bring them in for round-up twice a year on ranches that stretch further than a man can see.

That isn't unusual. Not to those who are familiar with the area and its background. "This used to be cattle and beans before the sugar cane and sweet corn," said Skeets Boe, a supervisor at Twenty Mile Bend Ranch, a cattle ranch operated by Glades Correctional Institute. where they are given a dose of worm medicine. "It kill about 80 percent of the worms in cattle," said Boe.

The medicine is given in accordance with the weight of the animal, according to Boe, but you won't see any scales at the pens.

"You get so you can tell pretty much what one weighs," said Boe.

If special medication is needed, it is given to the animal while it is in the chute.

The next day, the calves are run through. They are branded, castrated and given vaccines for a variety of illnesses.

The round-up has been underway since the middle of April and will end next weekend after about a month of work.

"It's fun, once you get used to it," said one of the workers.

The modern day cowboy has several tools at his convenience that the early day models didn't have to work with.

Battery charged cattle prods are used to help put the ornery into line and the shutes are portable, metal versions. Pick-ups can take the crews, made up of civilian supervisors and GCI inmates, from one ranch site to another in a matter of minutes, although the horse is still used as the best means to get into the herd and move them from one pasture to another or to the pens.

Cattle dogs are still used to keep the cattle grouped as the herd moves from one location to another.

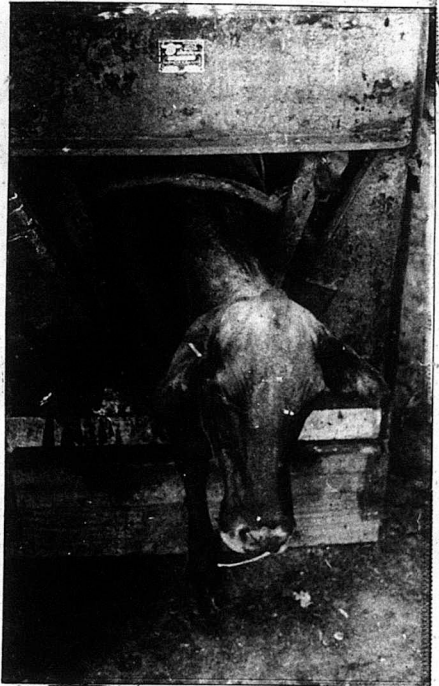

During the round-up, many of the workers can be heard identifying the meaner bulls and referring to them by the number branded on their hind quarter.

The bulls are usually the hardest to handle and cause the most work.

While most cows pass through the chute quickly, allowing the gun to be thrust down their throat and the worm vaccine put into their digestive systems rather easily, some bulls have to be forced through the chute and worked with prods to the correct position.

LOOKING OVER THE SITUATION, this cow hand helped divert the cattle from one pen to another for sorting and counting.

TRAPPED. This cow couldn't quite make it through the narrow opening of the chute.

BULLS can be rough to handle at times.

Three scientists promoted

Dr. K. R. Tefertiller, Vice President of the University of Florida, recently announced the promotion of three AREC scientists to Professor from Associate Professor.

This high honor was bestowed on Dr. Findlay M. Pate, Animal Scientist for livestock nutrition; Dr. Joe R. Crockett, Animal Scientist for livestock breeding; and Dr. Sun-Fu 'Tony' Shih, Agricultural Engineer (hydrology).

Their promotions will be effective September 1, 1982. Dr. J. M. Good, Center Director, says this highest academic rank is only granted to faculty who have made major contributions to science and Florida agriculture and to those whose academic excellence is recognized nationally and internationally.

PAHOKEE -- Police are seeking two suspects in the armed robbery of a gas station in Pahokee Thursday evening, May 6.

According to a report filed by Pahokee Officer Dennis McIntosh, Wilber Ramos was closing the station located at 720 Larimore Road at about 9:30 p.m. Thursday when a Cuban man with blonde-brown hair approached him and asked him for a cigarette.

When Ramos turned around to face him, he said the individual had a gun and asked for money. Ramos turned over about $450 in receipts. The man asked if there was more money and Ramos retrieved another $100 in cash from inside the office and turned gave it to the robber.

Ramos said he was taken into the office, tied, and told that he would be killed if he left.

After waiting about ten minutes, Ramos called the police.

The police are looking for two suspects, one standing about five feet, eight inches tall and weighing about 160 lbs with blond hair. Ramos described him to police as having a face badly scarred with acne.

The second man, who allegedly acted as a lookout, was described as 5'10" and weighing 160 lbs with black hair.

McNeill honored by Cubs for years of service

BELLE GLADE—

James "Bubba" McNeill was honored with a plaque in appreciation of his years of service to the Cub Scouts, Pack 622 at a meeting held at the Community United Methodist Church on May 7.

McNeill is retiring after serving as Cub Master from 1976 to present. During his years as Cub Master, the Belle Glade Cub Scouts grew from a membership of three to as many as 60 boys. He only missed one pack meeting in all those years.

Former den mothers and friends were on hand to show their appreciation for the years of service McNeill had given to the scouting program. Nellie Sprouse and Doyce Wilson, former den mothers, spearheaded the idea of honoring McNeill.

"We enjoyed working with Bubba," said Sprouse. "Whenever we would call him in a panic with some problem he was always there."

Sprouse laughed when she said he always said "Don't worry about it." She said things always worked out. Bill Burr, Scout Master for the Boy Scouts, spoke highly of McNeill and urged the scouts to continue to function. He asked for another responsible parent to take up the work where McNeill had finished.

"If it weren't for Bubba McNeill and Billy Schoenfeld, there wouldn't be a program in Belle Glade," he said.

Under McNeill's leadership, Pack 622 received many honors and awards, including ribbons, plaques and donations of funds.

McNeill is a local contractor and past president of the Christian Day School PTA as well as past president of the athletic organization of Christian Day School. A thirty second degree Mason, McNeill is a member of the local lodge and holds the office of Senior Steward. He and his wife Barbara have three children. They are members of the Belle Glade Alliance Church, where he serves on the executive board and is president of the Alliance Men.

In 1980, McNeill was appointed to the position of Rally Zone Commitment, serving the Palm Coast District for the Alliance Men.

In other business before the club, five boys received the Arrow of Light badge, the highest award given to a Cub Scout. It is the only badge a Cub Scout can carry over with him into Boy Scouts. Receiving the Arrow of Light badge were Jason Burr, Mark Schoenfeld, Shane McNeill, Manuel Sota and Robert Cochran.

"SPEECHLESS" was the word used by James "Bubba" McNeill upon receiving this plaque of appreciation from all of the former den mothers who had served with him during his years as Cub Master. McNeill is retiring this year from the position he has held since 1976. Shown presenting the plaque is Nellie Sprouse, former den mother.

According to Joseph McMillan, athletic director, Pahokee is anticipating the attendance of representatives of the New Orleans Saints and the Tampa Bay Buccaneers. Plans are also underway to honor Pahokee graduate Ricky Jackson, by retiring his jersey.

Health services to expand...

for the center, Diaz said. The birthing center will have six midwife practitioners, two obstetricians, and at least one pediatrician.

Diaz said patients will be charged based on their ability to pay.

Although the center will not handle high risk cases, "No one will be turned away who has had pre-natal care at the center," Diaz said.

Diaz said the center will be contracting with University Hospital in Jacksonville to accept babies born with problems the center is not equipped to handle.

At present, FCHC has no immediate plans to expand the services offered at the Clewiston Health Center.

The Clewiston Center was built in the early 70s, and FCHC has operated the center since 1976.

FCHC is governed by a volunteer board of directors composed of a consumer majority. Members also include local health professionals and business and civic leaders.

The FCHC Administrative Headquarters is located in West Palm Beach. A staff of over 100 employees includes physicians, dentists, nurses, and other providers and support personnel.

They provide comprehensive primary health services through the FCHC network of six ambulatory health centers.

Clinics are also located in Okeechobee, Fort Pierce, and Indiantown. A mobile clinic rotates between migrant labor sites in Indian River County.

Since its inception, the agency has expanded services rapidly to fill the health care gap for migrant and rural families. Utilization has more than doubled from less than 16,000 patients in 1977.

Nearly half of FCHC's patients are migrant and seasonal farmers. More than 85 percent are from families with income below poverty level. Emphasis has been on preventive care.

Nearly all children enrolled are provided with regular well infant and child care and 95 percent are protected by immunization.

Adults are routinely screened for anemia. All black patients are screened for sickle cell anemia. Over 90 percent of hypertensive patients receive follow-up care. Migrant maternity patients are enrolled in prenatal care promptly following their arrival in the area.

Mrs. Lois Brown, LPN, unit coordinator for the Clewiston Center, said a variety of services are offered, including family planning, prenatal care, well child care, well adolescent care, dental diagnostic and treatment, comprehensive screening.

Acute episodic care, chronic disease management, basic in-house laboratory services, major laboratory services, specialty and sub-specialty medical consultation.

Transportation, family health services, language translation, high risk maternity and newborn infant care for migrants, and in-house pharmacy.

Mrs. Brown said the Clewiston center is open five days a week and a large percentage of patients come from Belle Glade and Pahokee. Patients from Belle Glade and Pahokee are provided transportation to and from the center.

The dome-shaped center houses two physicians, a physician's assistant, nurse mid-wife, registered nurse, two licensed practical nurses, laboratory technician, laboratory assistant, X-Ray technician, pharmacist, three outreach workers, outreach driver, nurse's aide, dentist, dental assistants, Mental Health Social worker, translator, custodian and secretarial personnel.

On the board of directors locally are Fred C. Sikes of Clewiston, Ida Mizell, Pauline Lockett and Dr. George White of Belle Glade, and Elizabeth Baines of Pahokee.

Mrs. Brown said the clinic has an open door policy and no one is turned away. The youngest patients treated at the center are usually around the age of two.

Vegetable field day hosted by AREC, county

BELLE GLADE—Vegetable Field Day hosted by the Agricultural Research and Education Center and Ken Shuler, the Palm Beach County extension agent, was held Thursday, April 29, at the AREC conference room.

Dr. Vic Guzman was in charge of the vegetable field day.

Over 100 attended the annual event. Farmers from the area, industry personnel, employees of AREC, and faculty members from the University of Florida in Gainesville were in attendance.

The field day is held annually to inform area farmers of the research results of the past year and how it applies to them.

The field day included presentations by K. Shuler, V.L. Guzman, B.W. Falk, W.G. Genung, A. Dusky, R.J. Allen, S.F. Shih, G.S. Rahl, H.Y. Ozaki, R. Rubramanya, Y.H. Ozaki, R.S. Griffiths and T.A. Kucharek.

Among the many research topics presented were:—Progress in development of new disease resistant celery and sh2 sweet corn hybrids.

—Evaluation of insecticides for celery and crisphead lettuce —Water table effect on water use and yield of celery, lettuce and sweet corn.

Other areas of research presented included:—Evaluation of vegetable varieties

A large crowd turned out for field day

—Progress in breeding new vegetable varieties more resistant to disease.
which are more suited to the Glades area and —New methods of detecting lettuce mosaic virus in needs.

—Integrated pest management for celery.

—Evaluations of insecticides-effectiveness and damage to plants.

—Weed control on organic soils.

—Water level effect on vegetable yield.

The morning was reserved for field reports explaining the conditions under which the search was performed, the results of the research, and how it applies to area farmer.

After each report there was an question and answer period.

A box lunch was held on the station grounds, and the afternoon's agenda consisted of tours of the experimental plots located at the research center, and research lab at the center.

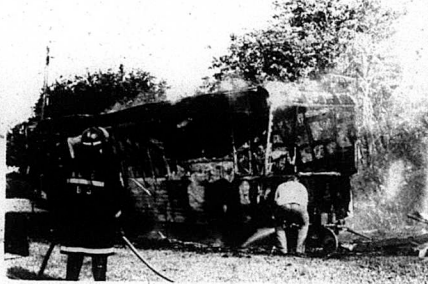

The AREC experimental plots are planted on area farms because a more realistic and accurate evaluation is often achieved, according to researchers at the center.

The entire station was involved in presenting the field day and Dr. Joe Good, station director, said in his welcoming address said that "without the help and support of many labors, technicians, secretaries as well as faculty members such a field day is not possible."

"A lot of hard work and talent goes into the research done at AREC," said Dr. Good.

BURGER KING in Pahokee will open next week, according to Mike Royal, owner. The local franchise is located on Main Street across from the Pahokee High School.

A PLAQUE in recognition of "outstanding and dedicated service to the safety of children" was presented to Belle Glade Police Sergeant Dan Crist from National Child Safety Council Co-ordinator John Leaman, Tuesday, May 11.

DR. DAVID T. EVANS

EVERGLADES PRESBYTERIAN CHURCH

God says, "Be ye holy, even as I am holy." This statement seems to most of us as being neither possible nor desirable.

The word "holy" has a connotation of being out of this world and none of us would want this. Yet really this is that for which we ought to yearn.

"You can't mean it," you say. To be holy means to have a new heart, new spirit, belonging to God and being a person fit to belong to God.

Part of what it means to be holy is to be a completely converted Christian. This is what Paul is saying in his benediction to the Thessalonians - "May God Himself, the God of Peace, make you holy, in every part, and keep you sound in spirit, soul, and body without blame when our Lord Jesus Christ comes."

Holiness, or being holy, doesn't come fast or easy. It is a gradual process of transformation. This change takes a lifetime. Utmost exertion is needed, which the love of God for us deserves.

It is the love and the grace (the free gift of salvation in Jesus Christ and all other help) of God that calls us into action. Being admitted into this relationship with God, an obligation is imposed upon us and we are summoned to obedience.

If we are willing to pay the price of the daily struggle to live more and more unto God, and less to the world, we may reap the fruits of holiness.

The benefits are almost beyond comprehension for they include the assurance of God's love, peace of conscience, joy in the Holy Spirit, and the spiritual strength to persevere in our Christian life to the end.

Holiness offers us the only lasting peace - a peace beyond what anything of the world offers. Being holy, while achievable only to a degree, affects every part of one's being, soul, and body, and influences in some measure one's whole life.

Holiness comes from a faith which is alive, and it is incited and excited by God's love. A life of struggle based on love will produce holiness and you will like the results.

Commission abolishes rental fees

BELLE GLADE—In an effort to earn more revenue for the recreation department, the Belle Glade City Commission Thursday, May 6, voted to abolish the $75 rental placed on each softball field and opted for revenues from the concession stand instead.

Recreation Coordinator Mike Underwood said that organizations have been holding their softball tournaments at a county owned park in Pahokee instead of at Airport Park because the $75 fee the city charges for the use of each field would have increased the entry fees the organizations levy on the teams.

The new policy will see the rental fees dropped. The city will also pay for one licensed umpire for each tournament. Underwood said the cost for the umpire should be between $250 or $300 depending on the number of teams.

New AREC weather station opens here

BELLE GLADE—Members of the National Weather Service Tampa Office toured the new weather station here on Tuesday, May 4.

The new weather station located on a small plot of land at the Agricultural Research and Experiment Center on S.R. 80 is operated by Dr. Robert Allen.

Dr. Allen said the new station is located on a small plot behind the center's rice paddies. The center was moved to its present location this January. The old weather station was located near the front of the station.

Fred Crosby, a meteorologist with the Tampa office, said data gathered from the center is used in agricultural observation and weather forecasts.

Crosby said the group is on its way to the National Weather Service Miami office and stopped in to tour the new station.

Dr. Allen said he has been gathering weather data at the center since 1925 and will continue collecting data at the old center for some time.

He said the data collected at the two system varies slightly in temperatures, rainfall, and wind readings.

Robert Allen Jr., who conducted the tour for his father, said the difference in readings are the result of the old station being surrounded by buildings.

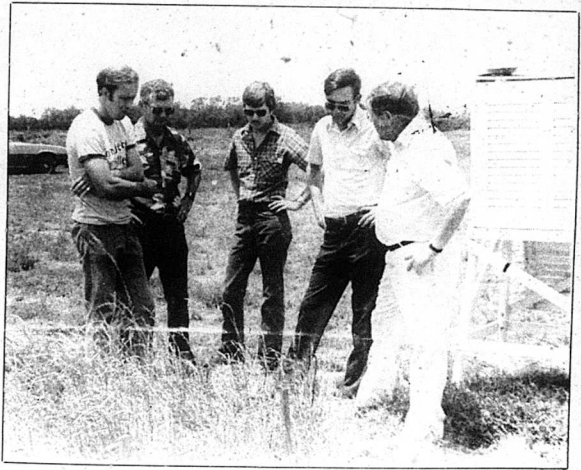

The new station is out in the open and the younger Allen said the readings are "extremely accurate."

Among the instruments located at the new station is a hydrothermography, wind gauge, a wetness gauge and an instrument to measure temperature and relative humidity, an evaporation pan and maximum and minimum thermometers.

Dr. Allen said a trailer houses the more sophisticated machinery used in compiling the data.

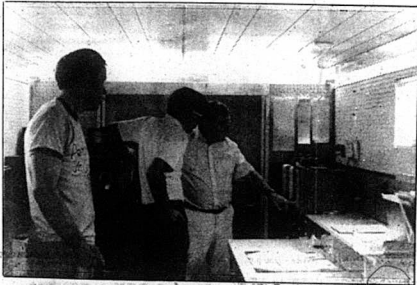

Dr. Allen said the daily temperature and rainfall are available to the public at the switchboard and additional data is available at the center for those interested.

Larry Schwandes, a chemist with AREC conducted the tour along with Dr. Allen's son. Dr. Allen was on sick leave.

THREE members of the National Weather Service Tampa area recently toured the AREC new weather station located on small plot of land out near the rice fields. Larry Schwandes, chemist with AREC and Robert Allen, III served as guides for the tour. Dr. Robert Allen, II, compiles data daily from the station. Dr. Allen was on sick-leave the day of the tour.

BELLE GLADE—Glades bike riders raised more than $2,000 for the Florida Cystic Fibrosis Foundation during the third annual CF Bike-a-thon.

Mrs. Willie M. Adams, chairperson of the bike-a-thon said $2,000 had been turned in by the participants as of May 1. She also said there were still several bike-riders who have not turned in their pledges but expected the money to be in the immediate future.

Mrs. Adams said in her three years as chairman of the bike-a-thon this year's bike-a-thon produced the largest amount of funds for the foundation.

Richard Goodbread, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene (Norman) Goodbread of 808 N.E. 22nd St., Belle Glade, was the top fund collector.

Goodbread collected $300 for the Cystic Fibrosis Foundation. A student at Christian Day School, he also was the top fund collector last year.

Eight year old, Narasheed Leon Brown turned in the second highest amount of money.

Brown collected $136.00. He is the son of Mr. Barbara Hill and the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Willie (Fleeter) Perryman of 1400 S.W. Ave. H. He resides with his grandparents and attends Glade View Elementary School, where he is a student in Mrs. Edna Steven's third grade class.

Mrs. Adams said she commends the students and adults who participated in the bike-a-thon.

CREDIT PROBLEMS?

If your loan application to purchase a new or used car was turned down by the Bank or other lending institution, the Stewarts may have good news for you. For a limited time, we have over $290 million dollars available for auto loans. Credit requirements are more liberal than what you've probably experienced. Terms are longer, and no down payment is necessary. Interest is well below PRIME LENDING RATES CHARGED BY MOST BANKS.

Call now and drive home today in a new Pontiac, Toyota, Mazda, Fiat, or Peugeot. Call for an appointment or come in. Ask for Mr. Foster, Special Fund Finance Manager.
